WARM OPENER ? — Will the weather stay warm for a good trout opener? Past opening days of Trout Season have come with that white stuff on the ground. In this photo, the fisherman was bundled up for 40 degree temperatures.

Trout Season Opens On Rivers Saturday

If warm weather continues until Saturday, a good trout season opener could be in store for fishermen.

"It looks hopeful if the weather doesn't change," said Skip Madsen, of Skip's Sport Shop, on Tuesday morning. "If we don't get a lot of rain there should be lots of bugs around this weekend."

Madsen said stone flies were hatching on the lower part of the AuSable and Hendricks rivers would be out soon if the weather holds.

Warm weather was still needed between Tuesday and Saturday to help bring the water level down, he said.

Madsen said despite the high temperatures in the 80's recently, insect hatches are still near normal dates.

"It hasn't been warm for that long," he said. "Fishing and business from fishermen has been about normal this spring."

Wally Dabrowski, working with Rusty Gates at Gates' Lodge, said continued warm weather could bring an excellent trout opener.

"The river is clearing up and dropping fast enough to have a good opener Saturday if we don't have any cold rains," he said.

Dabrowski said the recent intense summer-like heat has only brought insect hatches back near normal dates after a late-breaking spring. Two weeks ago there was still snow in the woods he pointed out.

Dabrowski also thought the Hendricks rivers would be around this weekend if warm weather continued. He said the warm weather in the past week has brought out more fishermen on the main branch of the AuSable this year compared to last year at this date.

Pregnancy Crisis Center To Open in Grayling

A pregnancy crisis center for women of all ages will open full-time May 1 in Grayling.

The Door of Hope Pregnancy Crisis Center will be operated through the Open the Door Ministries, Inc., a non-profit group, with help from the Christian Action Council.

The center will provide information concerning pregnancy, abortion, and alternatives. The center can help by also referring girls and women to medical care, social services, adoption and foster care agencies, pastors, and Christian counseling.

The center offers a free pregnancy test that is 97 percent accurate. The girls or women are urged to confirm results with their doctor.

The center also will offer clothing for mothers and babies in addition to support for women who have gone through abortions.

The center has a 24-hour hot line, 348-4151, and all information is kept confidential.

Helen Campbell, one of eight volunteers staffing the center, said girls or women do not even have to give their last name. A number system is used for files.

The center is located at 609 Cedar upstairs from "The Parlor". The hours are Monday to Friday, 1 to 5 p.m., Monday 7-9 p.m., and Saturday by appointment. The eight staff volunteers have gone through 18 hours of training provided by the Christian Action Council and continued training is offered.

The center is in need of more maternity clothes and baby clothes. Clothes may be dropped off at the center. Any money donations for the center can be sent to the Door of Hope Pregnancy Crisis Center, P.O. Box 711, Grayling.

A home for pregnant teenagers, a separate operation from the crisis center, is also being planned for the Grayling area. More information about the home will be available in future issues of the Avalanche.

2 Grayling Stores Selected for Lotto

By Jon Thompson

Two Grayling stores, Ole Dam Party Store and Glen's Market, will be receiving Lotto terminals according to Richard Northcut, lottery regional manager.

Northcut, who's regional office is located in Grayling, said the tentative schedule for installing the Lotto terminals is near the end of June or the first of July.

Northcut made an announcement last Wednesday that the two stores had been selected from nine stores that applied for the terminal.

He said lottery officials are trying to place at least two terminals in every county. Since Grayling is the traffic hub of Crawford County, they decided to place terminals at two ends of the city.

Ole Dam Party Store is located at the junction of West M-72, M-93 and Old Dam Road. Glen's Market is located on South I-75 Business Loop.

Northcut said in an earlier interview one of the most important qualifications for a terminal location is the capability of the store to sell tickets. He said the state wants good sales and the store needs to sell enough so they are making money. The terminals are installed at no cost to the business, and the business receives six percent commission on every ticket sold at that location. There are no more bonuses to stores for selling winning tickets.

The lottery terminal handles the Lotto game and the three and four digit daily games.

Forest Fire Season Begins in County

By Jon Thompson

A small two-acre fire off Military Road in Beaver Creek Township Saturday officially kicked off the forest fire season in Crawford County.

The fire burned mostly grass and a few red pine and was contained quickly by Department of Natural Resources forest fire fighters and the Beaver Creek Township volunteer fire department.

Although summer-like temperatures arrived early in Crawford County this year, the forest fire season started about the same date as usual.

DNR forest fire fighter Duane Brooks says there have been fires as early as the first week of April. The peak time for forest fires here is in the second week in May. He says it's usually warm, windy, the grasses and leaves are dry, and there's not enough green growth to hold a lot of moisture.

The last big fires to strike Crawford County both came during the second week in May of 1975 - the Bald Hill and North Down River Road fires.

Brooks said the most dangerous times for forest fires here is not in the hot days of summer as many people think but in the spring after snow cover is gone and before the forests have abundant green growth.

What was unusual about this spring and the hot weather was how fast the snow cover left. He said in two weeks the snow was all gone once the warm weather came.

Brooks said the watertable is high right now and there's still quite a lot of moisture in the ground after abundant snowfall and spring rains. But the AuSable River Valley is still one of the most dangerous forest fire places in the country, he says. The large stands of jack pines and the shape of the valley could lead to a big forest fire.

Last year, Brooks, Frank Barber, and Jim Gray, the forest fire fighters at the DNR Grayling office, along with volunteer DNR forest fire fighters, were called to 48 fires that covered 964.2 acres. The biggest fires last year were two fires on April 28 that covered 268 acres off North Down River Road east of Grayling. There were eight fire fighting units at the scene of those fires within 15 minutes, but because of winds and dry conditions, the fires couldn't be contained.

"On a bad day, you can't stop a forest fire," Brooks said. "We just do the best we can."

Brooks says most of the fires in Crawford County are man-made. Debris burning is the main cause of fires outside of the military ranges. Campfires very seldom are the cause of forest fires around here and lightning causes only about one fire a year in Crawford County.

Anyone starting a fire in Crawford County must obtain a burning permit when the ground is not snowcovered. Permits are free and can be obtained in person at the Grayling DNR field office or by telephone 348-6371. During fire season, the DNR office is manned seven days a week 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Brooks said there are several reasons for burning permits. First, in hot, dry, and windy conditions, the DNR can deny permission to burn. Second, some items can't be burned because of air pollution laws. Third, the DNR has the location of the fire in case a patrol plane spots it or someone calls in a fire.

Brooks said most people in Crawford County obtain burning permits and he offered three tips for burning leaves or debris: keep piles small, burn in the early morning or evening when the wind is down and humidity is up, and stay with the fire until it is dead out.

Even with a permit, individuals starting a fire are responsible for any damages should the fire escape. They're also liable for paying expenses for fighting the fire. A forest fire started by a company along Fletcher Road cost them $91,284 in damages and DNR expenses putting out the fire.

In addition, letting a fire escape is a misdemeanor with fines up to $90 and up to 90 days in jail. Debris may be burned in barrels but they must be masonry or metal construction with air holes no larger than 3/4 inch including the cover.

Anyone spotting a forest fire should call the DNR field office during the day or the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. at night.

Local Artist Featured at KCC Foundation 8-Day Art Exhibit

By Jon Thompson

A local artist who has traveled throughout the world for more than 30 years will have her paintings featured at a Kirtland Community College art exhibit April 28 - May 3.

The work of Shirley Catsman, of Higgins Lake, will be on display from 1 to 10 p.m. Monday to Thursday, 1 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, and 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the KCC Library. Admission is free.

Catsman's paintings reflect her worldwide traveling. Much of her work in the exhibit depicts life in Brazil and China, where she feels the friendliest people in the world live.

"I was a born traveler," says Catsman. "The most important things in my life are my family, travel, and painting."

Catsman, a graduate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Grosse Pointe, spent four years at the Academy of Arts and Crafts in Detroit studying design and oil painting under Sarkis Sarkison and John Carroll.

She then married Raymond Catsman, of Flint, and managed to study ceramics under Svea Kline, of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, while she and her husband raised six children.

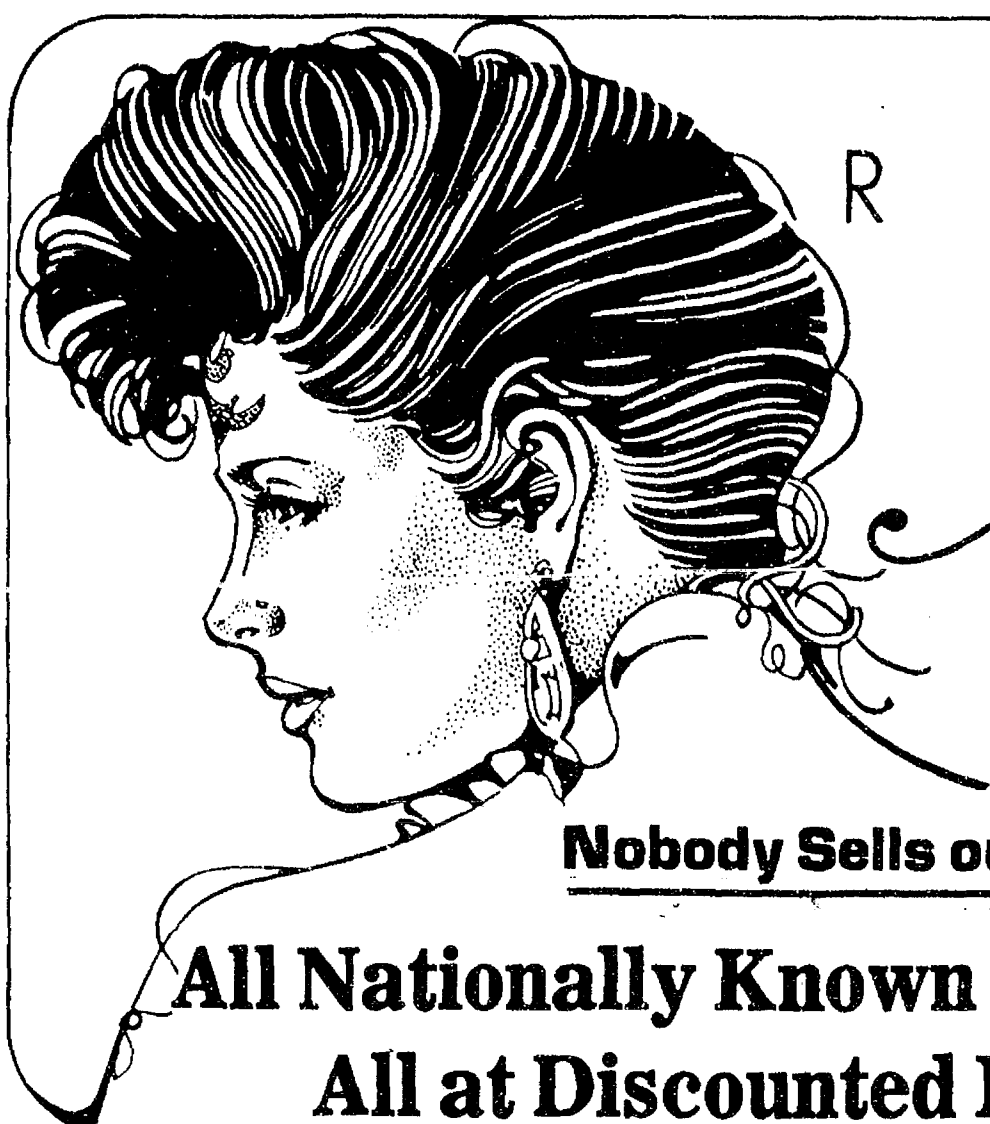

In 1970, with her children grown, she turned to painting again and by 1971 her work was featured in the Flint Art Show and other Flint galleries.

Her paintings have since been featured in art galleries as far away as Manaus, Brazil, and she has conducted art programs on television in South America and Singapore.

Most of Catsman's paintings are oil and gouache showing beautiful natural scenes of the countries she has visited or the people she has encountered there.

From Our Corner...

It must be spring...our summer visitors are beginning to show up following their hibernation in the warmer climes in the south and out west...some have been around for a couple of weeks and then there are some that are just making their appearance...we were at the Hotel Friday night and ran in to a few that we hadn't seen so far this spring, it could have been the opening of the Country Club get together that brought them out...we ran into Grayling's elder statesman William "Bill" Joseph and wife Marion, the Mel Nielsons, the Dr. Schwarz, Ken and Mabel Gothro, Cal and Sue Brenner to name a few, and they all looked like they had spent the winter on the beach or the golf course...anyway it is nice to have all of you folks returning, it sort of reassures us that summer must be on its way...

Speaking of spring, summer and golf we were sort of shocked Sunday morning when our bride turned down a golf game with neighbor Gloria Neilson and Jeannie Thompson, to for all things working out in the yard when she has young Mike McNamara coming back to finish what he started Saturday...but then, it has been over forty years now and we haven't figured her out yet, so why should I be able to now...

We ran into Ralph Stevens last week who is the owner of Carlisle Paddles Inc., and he was telling me that on some of the Girl Scouts cookie boxes there is a picture of some girls and a guide paddling on the Colorado river on a raft and Ralph told me that all the paddles being used were manufactured at his plant here in Grayling...that's pretty good advertising for our little hamlet up here in the north country...Ralph is on the go alot attending sport shows all over and while he is there he is passing out all kinds of literature pertaining to the Crawford County area...Ralph made the remark that he doesn't take a vacation because he is on the go so much and it is fun so he doesn't need to take time off to get away from it all...one of Ralph's pet sayings in the winter time when it is near zero out is "one thing for sure today we don't have to worry about any mosquito bites", I think Ralph is the only one who can truthfully say he is happy during the winter time...I surely can't...

An idle thought: After reading the Sunday sports section and learning that the Tigers won the game in the ninth inning Saturday against the Kansas City Royals, all we can say they have been living dangerously, winning these one run games in the late innings...this kind of luck can't last forever if they expect to repeat...their bats need to start booming out some runs to support the good pitching they are getting right now...their luck ran out on them Sunday and Monday, and it is quite apparent the other teams are not rolling over and playing dead in fear of the mighty Tigers...in fact, it looks like they are trying that much harder against them...

Things have been quite slow around town but a look at the calendar brings to thought two things, the first not too exciting except you will lose an hour of sleep next Sunday morning when you jump your clock ahead one hour at 2:00 a.m. Sunday morning...about the only way you can win is take a nap Saturday afternoon and be prepared for the lost hour...

The main thing for this weekend is the opening of trout season Saturday, April 27th...hopefully that will open the door for the tourist season to start also...it does mean that folks who have places up here will start opening them up for the summer season and then one can forget the doldrums of the winter...we imagine there will be quite a few of Grayling's young Isaac Waltons who will be at the bridge and along the river here in town at the crack of midnight Friday night...it would be nice if this weekend is like this past one, it was gorgeous out...

This about takes care of this weeks efforts so we will bid T.J., Stefany and Amber goodnight, and to all of our readers do have a nice weekend, and for the anglers we wish you luck and hope for a nice opener...

GAY BILL OF RIGHTS

H.R. 2624, known as the "Gay Bill of Rights" is currently being pushed by militant homosexuals and lesbians for passage in the United States Congress. Anger at the failure to pass such a law in California, caused some leaders in the homosexual community to declare "An Act of War" to force Americans to accept their unnatural lifestyle as a right. Some twenty deadly pipe bombs have been found in shopping malls, public parks and restaurants with notes attached signed "the North Central Gay Strike Force Against Public and Police Oppression."

In San Francisco, homosexuals have pushed through a law giving taxpayer-paid health insurance to the homosexual live-in lovers of city employees! They want the same kind of treatment nationally. They want every advantage given to an American family through marriage. They want legislation passed which will force restaurant owners, hospital administrators, dentists, doctors, churches, schools, day-care centers, nursing homes and all other employers to hire them even if they are avowed homosexual extremists.

Already the courts have said a public school teacher could not be fired for teaching the homosexual lifestyle in a favorable light to students. With the passage of H.R. 2624, a militant homosexual or lesbian teacher could even seduce children since "homosexual tendencies" would be lawful or legal. The "North American Man/Boy Love Association" is already busy lobbying for the repeal of all laws prohibiting sex with children. In New York, Liberal Mayor Ed Koch is already trying to force gay counselors into day-care centers run by the Salvation Army.

Our Judeo-Christian ethic of morality is being attacked by liberal Humanism as never before. This may be the straw which breaks the camel's back. If this vilest and most depraved of all sex sins becomes legal and defended by the United States government, the conflict between Christianity and Humanism may soon go beyond words into open bloodshed. May I plead with you to pray, write your U.S. Congressmen and Senators and President Reagan.

After the abortion murder of 15 million babies, how could God let America endorse and defend homosexuality without divine judgment? We are not just talking about the spread of Herpes and AIDS, we are talking about the spread of moral corruption which can bring about the total internal destruction of our society.

"Stop for the White Cane" will be the rallying cry for more than 23,000 Lions Club members in Michigan as they gear up for the 49th annual White Cane Week drive, scheduled for April 26 to May 5.

"It is crucial to the safety of the 16,000 blind and visually impaired in this state that all drivers know this law," according to Owen Suits, Michigan Lions White Cane Chairman. "Every driver must come to a full stop before cautiously proceeding when he or she approaches a blind person with a White Cane or Leader Dog in harness. The driver can see the blind person can't," Suits emphasized.

Besides educating the public in the White Cane laws, another prime purpose of the massive White Cane Week drive is to generate funds for the many Lions projects and institutions dedicated to helping the blind.

"Our goal of $1.5 million will enable us to purchase White Canes, Braille watches, eyeglasses, examinations and various other aids for the unsighted," Suits continued. "We want to help the blind help themselves, and this takes a great deal of funding. The people of Michigan have never forgotten those less fortunate than themselves, even through difficult economic times. We can't continue our work without their help. It's as simple as that," he continued.

The Michigan White Cane Law requires all motorists to stop at least ten feet from blind persons carrying White Canes or being led by Leader Dogs in harness. The public should also be aware that all public facilities must permit a blind person with a Leader Dog in harness to enter and use those premises.

During the ten-day period, the Lions will be selling miniature White Cane pins on street corners, shopping malls, banks, businesses and other heavily trafficked areas. Also cooperating in the drive are city, county and state governments, schools, Secretary of State offices and police departments.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Members of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in the area recently returned from a semi-annual Bible seminar held at their assembly hall in Holt, Michigan. There were more than 1,400 in attendance.

Highlighting the two day seminar, the theme of which was "Be Stabilized in the Faith", was the public talk delivered by W.J. Benner "Basis for Faith in an Unbelieving World." Due to the continuing unsettled conditions in the world today, and the lack of faith produced thereby, the vital importance of resisting the world's influence was emphasized.

Other discussions, experiences, and lectures highlighting the practical value of the Bible in every day living were also part of the program.

Rating Mr. Carter and Unicorns

by Richard Milliman

FORMER PRESIDENT Jimmy Carter pops up in the news every now and then, what with writing books and lecturing and what have you.

A few months ago, he and Mrs. Carter made the news by going to inner-city New York and putting some "sweat equity" into a housing project with a church group from Georgia. They spent some time actually pounding nails and sawing wood to help out the project. You had to give the Carters high marks for putting their beliefs into practice.

Just lately, Amy Carter made the news, too. Now, 17, Amy Carter was arrested outside the South African Embassy in Washington, protesting apartheid. Amy joined a long list of other famous, near-famous, and not-famous-at-all protestors, who have selected to protest racial actions in South Africa.

PAPA JIMMY'S reaction was admirable from a paternal standpoint.

"She has felt very strongly about apartheid since she was in the sixth grade," the former President said.

"She is a young woman with her own ideas and I'm very proud of her."

When Mr. Carter was President, the consensus was that his principles were sound and that he tried very hard, but that he was not a very effective President. History most likely will not give his presidency very high marks. I wouldn't disagree.

But as a neighbor and as a father, he rates near the top of the list.

I SEE BY the papers that Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus is in a hot dispute with animal-lovers.

The circus has been headlining an animal called The Living Unicorn — a smallish, four-legged, mild-looking animal with one large horn growing from the middle of its forehead — just like the unicorn of mythology.

Humane society officials protest, claiming the animal really isn't a unicorn as the circus says, and also claiming the singular horn is the result of surgery, not biology.

A FEDERAL VETERINARIAN pulled a surprise visit to the circus in New York and found not one but four "unicorns" which really were goats. The vet guessed their horn buds had been moved from the sides of their heads to the center in a bud graft to produce the single horn.

He also found the animals were well treated.

"Genetically they're goats," the vet said. "But if you want to surrender to whimsy, then they're unicorns."

Talk about a two-edged statement; that vet ought to run for political office.

Anyway, the circus knows a good publicity angle when one falls into its lap.

"Don't Let the Grinches Steal the Fantasy!" roars a circus ad.

"If you believe in the circus, you've got to believe in unicorns," says another.

THE WHOLE THING is really quite a bit of fun if you don't succumb to seriousness. I went to the Ringling circus in January in Florida, and chuckled at all the circus hype centered on The Living Unicorn.

It sure looked like a goat to me, even with the single horn. All the animal did to perform was ride around the circus ring three or four times atop a motorized vehicle of some sort, and look unicornish.

So what? The public has been taken in on a lot more serious things than a living unicorn in the past. And we'll be suckered again in the future.

In the meantime, there's no harm. And maybe even a little fun or whimsy.

PERCY ROSS is a "rags to riches" millionaire from Minnesota who hands out his philosophies and some of his money through a newspaper column, to which people who want money write in with their plea.

Some letters, and some of Ross's replies, are worth a second look. A recent gem went like this:

"Dear Mr. Ross: What is a good formula for me to get lucky in business? Signed: N.R., Toronto."

"Dear Mr. R.: The harder you work, the luckier you get. Signs: Percy Ross."

Private Property Week Set for Apr. 28 - May 4

April 28 through May 4 has been recognized by President Reagan as Private Property Week, a time when attention is focused on the need to preserve and protect private property rights and increase awareness of the active role Realtors play in their communities.

"As you know, the term Realtor identifies a person who is a member of the National Association of Realtors and subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics," said Norma Naour, President of the Water wonderland Board of Realtors, which serves Crawford, Otsego, Montmorency, Cheboygan and Oscoda Counties. "The term is a registered service mark and serves the singular purpose of identifying and distinguishing members of the Association from all other licensed real estate agents."

As Realtors observe Private Property Week, it is important to note that the role of the Realtor in today's housing industry is more important than ever, Naour said. Through their personal affiliation with the National Association, Realtors recognize the vital necessity of professional competency and continuing education to meet the challenges of real estate in an increasingly sophisticated and complex society.

"This role, admittedly very demanding, is borne by the more than 670,000 members of the National Association in all 50 states as well as Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia," Naour added.

In terms of housing expertise, the Realtor plays a key role in the marketing, sale and often even the financing of both residential and commercial properties. For the seller, such variables as market trends, seasonability of sales, location, condition of the property, as well as a market analyses of the most recent sale prices of similar properties in the area can help determine a property value. The Realtor may suggest certain repairs or improvements, may utilize sophisticated advertising in local publications and arrange for showing of the home. Prospects are pre-qualified so that the seller is not inconvenienced by a parade of "lookers."

For the buyer, the Realtor keeps abreast of market conditions affecting real estate in the community, state and the nation, analyzes future trends and determines the potential value of a particular home as a long-range investment. A Realtor makes appointments for inspection of homes, calling attention to improvements and advantages or disadvantages the buyer might have overlooked. The Realtor may provide information on taxes, utility and maintenance costs, quality of construction, adequacy of public services and the location of schools and churches. Further, the Realtor can often recommend sources of funds for financing purposes.

At the community level, Realtors are involved in public service programs to upgrade the quality of life in their community.

"As Realtors strive to offer the public their knowledge and expertise in real estate and provide technical services which benefit both homeowners and homebuyers, they also have succeeded in encouraging patriotism and community improvement through an active participation in our common heritage," said Naour.

Members of the National Association of Realtors, Michigan Association of Realtors and the Water Wonderland Board of Realtors in our area are: Cornell Realty of Grayling.

Prison Officials Pressed To Comply With Overcrowding Order

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Dir., MPA

A request for enforcement of a court order against prison overcrowding will be filed quickly if state officials do not voluntarily take steps to ease the problem, an attorney who originally initiated the court action said recently.

Corrections officials acknowledged overcrowding has become worse than expected since Governor James Blanchard in December declared he would no longer approve early releases of prisoners, but have no plans to use the overcrowding act.

Prison facilities are virtually certain to remain substantially at capacity until the end of summer when at least 1,000 additional beds are added to the system, Gail Light, spokesman for the Department of Corrections said.

She said delays in adding the new beds as well as an "incredible number of commitments" from Wayne County courts are responsible for the increasing problem.

"Things are just getting a lot worse now, but we have been out of compliance (with the court order) for six months. We'll just have to be out of compliance for a while," she said.

East Lansing attorney Zolton Ferency, who won the 1980 Ingham County Circuit Court order setting standards for inmate space, said he would try to meet with officials as soon as possible to see if they will voluntarily reduce the flow of inmates into the system, release some quicker or a combination of the two.

"I hope that we can work out a program to reduce the population to an acceptable number as quickly as possible. It might come down to working out an emergency release program to replace the one the Governor refuses to use," he said.

A motion will be filed in circuit court if an agreement is not reached, Ferency said.

The April 3 count showed 13,993 inmates in the 12,600-capacity men's system and 560 in the 477-capacity women's system, with the most severe overcrowding in minimum security facilities, Light said.

Coincidentally, the number of walkaways so far this year for minimum security facilities, where prisoners are sleeping in activity rooms and gymnasiums, is over twice as high as last year - 52 compared to 20, she said.

Some medium security facilities, such as Muskegon and the Michigan Training Unit in Ionia, are also housing prisoners in areas such as study rooms, Light said.

She said the situation will not be eased until the addition of the Detroit House of Corrections and a vacant building at the Wayne County Hospital this summer, and then only if Wayne County judges slow their rates of commitment to prisons instead of county jails.

Light said inmate populations would, with luck, probably then stay within capacity through the end of the year.

Blanchard's press secretary Richard Cole said no consideration is being given to early release of prisoners to deal with the problem.

"For the time being, we are doing everything we possibly can to build new prisons and keep dangerous felons off the street. Our position is we are not in violation (of the court order). We are exploring and pursuing every alternative to deal with it administratively."

The Governor in his State of the State message called for amendments to the Prison Overcrowding Emergency Powers Act, but does not yet have a specific proposal.

Special T.U. Program Looks At Slotting, New Fish Study

The results of an extensive fish population study on the main branch of the AuSable will be revealed Thursday, April 25, 7:30 p.m. at a special Trout Unlimited program at Chief Shoppenagons Hotel.

Jan Fenske, Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Biologist, will discuss details of the study and talk about the "slotting" size limit that was imposed to increase the number of large trout in the river.

Fenske, a graduate of Michigan State, with her Masters Degree from U of M., has been with the D.N.R.
for eight years, with the last two years stationed in Mio, working with Gary Schnicke and others. Fenske started her career with the DNR Institute for Fisheries Research, in Ann Arbor. Her early work was with Rick Clark,
DNR Fisheries Research Biologist who conceived of the "slotting" concept and directed the study. "Slot-ting", a controversial idea, called for killing of 8" to 12" trout, "no-kill" in the 12" to 16" range and keeping of fish over 16".

"Slotting" as it is known, was a compromise between "no-kill", as instituted on the South Branch of the AuSable, and the keeping of some fish caught. The lengthy study is over and the final report is complete. The public is invited, at no charge, to share a cup of coffee and to hear Fenske discuss results and peek into the future. Time will be allotted for questions.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

A rabbit or should I say a snowshoe hare went tearing through the yard here at the headquarters one day last week. What had set him or her in motion I can't say, but something had spooked it.
What was noticeable, other than the speed, was the color. The hare was no longer sporting the winter coat, but in a reddish brown coat with white underparts.

This native of our State has many an alias besides snowshoe; snowshoe rabbit, varying hare, white hare,
snow rabbit, bush rabbit,
and Northern jack rabbit.
Along with all these aliases the animal also operates under two disguises - a brown summer coat and a white winter coat.

I had believed that the fur of the snowshoe changes color with the season, but there is some thought now that the color change, which is actually a moult, is triggered by the amount of sunlight and not by when the snow comes or melts.

The hind feet of this animal are very large, with broad palms, widespread toes and thick hair which lets them run freely over the surface of the snow which accounts for the snowshoe part of the name.

In addition to his seasonal color changes and his snowshoe equipment this hare is also noted for his population cycles.

In Canada the Hudson's Bay Company has kept records for more than a hundred years which have noted the variations in varying hare populations. What is interesting about this is that the number of furbearing predators depends directly on the number of snowshoe hares.

Also of interest is that the Indian population is or was almost equally dependent in turn on the hare and fur-bearer cycles.

1985 VIKINGS — Representing Grayling on the baseball field this season will be (front, left) John Meagher, Jon Nicholas, George Duncan, Flaskie Robins, Jeff Branch, Joe Erb, David Somerville, Duane Matthews, Jeff Palmer, manager Chris Wolcott and Scott Lehto, (back) Brad Naghtin, Jeff McClellan, Kevin Hudson, Jim Knight, Rod Patterson, Ken Erb, Dean McKinney, John Kinney, and coach Fred Wolcott.

Vikings Open Baseball Season at Grayling

On any level of baseball good pitching usually wins games and Grayling High School baseball coach Fred Wolcott is looking for some consistent pitching to lead the Vikings this year.

Wolcott looks for seniors Dean McKinney and Jeff Branch along with Kevin Hudson to shoulder the starting duties for Grayling. Sophomore John Meagher and freshman Jeff Palmer are expected to help in relief roles.

Grayling returns six lettermen from last year's 12-12 squad. Branch, who will play shortstop as well as pitch, was the club's leading run producer last year with 31 RBI's. Branch knocked out 9 home runs while batting .360.

McKinney, who plays outfield as well as pitching, batted .341 last year with a home run. Second baseman Jon Nicholas, a senior, is expected to lead the team in stolen bases this year. He had 12 last year and led the team with 9 walks. The other returning senior is Ken Erb, who was voted Most Improved Player last year. He will play the outfield.

George Duncan, a junior, returns for his third year of varsity baseball. Wolcott says Duncan has improved with the bat this year and he will be the starting catcher.

Sophomore John Meagher is the other returning letterman. Meagher, who hit .417 last year, will play outfield and infield.

Newcomers to the team this year are two seniors playing their first year of baseball, Rod Patterson and Brad Naghtin. Wolcott says Patterson has a strong arm and looks good at third base. He said Naghtin has the natural ability to run down fly balls in the outfield and will help the team defensively.

Hudson, a first baseman in addition to pitching, will start at first base the opening game. Junior Duane Matthews is another newcomer to the team. Wolcott says he will play in the outfield and his bat will help the team.

Sophomores new to the team are Joe Erb, outfield, Jim Knight, first base, and David Somerville, outfield. Freshmen new to the team are John Kinney, catcher, Jeff McClellan, first base, Jeff Palmer, outfield, shortstop, pitcher, and Flaskie Robins, infield.

Grayling plays 14 league games, one non-conference doubleheader, and will have to play one or two games to qualify for district tournament action.

Grayling opens their season Wednesday, April 24, against Cheboygan at home at 4 p.m. They travel to Onaway Tuesday, April 30th, for a 4 p.m. doubleheader. All the league dates will be doubleheaders this year and both games will count in the standings.

Wolcott said his players set three goals for this season: qualify for districts, win districts, and win the league. He picked Sault Ste. Marie, Gaylord, and Petoskey as three of the toughest league foes for Grayling this year.

March of Dimes Marks 30th Anniversary of Salk Vaccine

Safe...effective...potent. Just 30 years ago on April 12, those three sober, moderate words set off a bell-ringing, whistle-blowing jamboree of national joy followed by an enormous sign of relief.

The first successful vaccine against paralytic poliomyelitis, developed by Dr. Jonas Salk, had been proven by massive field trials to be "safe, effective, and potent." It still stands today as one of the most significant medical achievements of our time.

Dr. Salk was hailed as a public hero for having laid low the monster of polio (also known as infantile paralysis). Thanks to the Salk breakthrough, funded solely by the March of Dimes, polio is no longer a national health problem.

The U.S. battle against polio began in the late 1930s when Eddie Cantor, the Broadway comic and vaudeville headliner, coined the phrase "March of Dimes." He urged listeners to his coast-to-coast radio program to send contributions to President Franklin D. Roosevelt to fight polio.

Roosevelt, himself a polio victim, personally approved of the idea and the appeals for dimes were heard on many of the nation's favorite radio programs. In 1938, the President escalated the battle against polio by founding The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, in part with donations received as a result of Cantor's appeal.

The Foundation's mission was "to lead, direct, and unify the fight against infantile paralysis."

From the outset, the March of Dimes worked closely with doctors and research scientists to gather all that was known about polio. Scientists supported by March of Dimes grants searched for a way to eliminate the dread disease. In the early 1950s, Dr. Salk began work on the development of an anti-polio vaccine.

By 1953, Dr. Salk had his vaccine. He tested it on a limited scale, with satisfactory results. So certain was Dr. Salk of the vaccine's safety that his own three children were among those vaccinated.

The 1954 field trial of the Salk vaccine was, with the exception of wartime, the largest mobilization of the nation's resources in the history of the U.S. Almost two million school children participated in the mass program organized and conducted by the March of Dimes in 44 states.

Evaluation of the results of the field trials was conducted by scientific experts. For nine months following the inoculations, a research team rigorously reviewed the control studies and reports. The final evaluation report was drawn up and its findings were disclosed to the waiting world on April 12, 1955.

The disappearance of polio as a significant public health problem was undeniably due to the widespread administration of the Salk vaccine, which was used exclusively through 1961. Later the Sabin oral vaccine was introduced and is now used almost exclusively in the U.S. The March of Dimes was the sole source of support of the research leading to both polio vaccines.

With the conquest of polio assured, the foundation anticipated in the mass program organized and conducted by the March of Dimes in 44 states.

moved into expanded health areas, assuming leadership in the fight to prevent birth defects. It is now known as the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

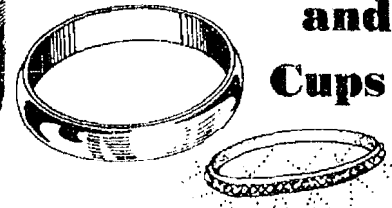

Different Origin

The Olympic Peninsula—part of Washington state's northwest corner—is believed to have a geologic origin different from that of the rest of North America. Some geologists think that the peninsula was born as part of an offshore oceanic ridge, then swiveled into its present position during a massive tectonic shift.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
 Conservation Officer

Late April and May are considered the time of year when wildfire danger is the highest. Warm weather which dries out leaves, grass and slash in woodlands, accompanied by normal windy days turn much of the state into a tinderbox.

In Crawford County, with miles and miles of highly flammable jack pine, the situation is even more acute. A discarded cigarette, an improperly controlled debris fire, even sparks from an ORV tailpipe can turn into a hellish inferno. One of the worst fires in recent years was started by a spark from a welding torch.

Most wildfires (nearly 70% statewide) are caused by debris burning. People like to clean up their yards in the spring and use fire to dispose of whatever brush or leaves they accumulate. One lax moment or an unexpected breeze can cause thousands of dollars in damage.

The Forest Fire Law (Act 329, P.A. 1969) requires that "at any time the ground is not snow covered, a person shall not burn any flammable material on or adjacent to forest land... without a permit..." An exception to this is burning for domestic purposes. A proper burner constructed of metal or masonry with a metal covering device with openings no larger than 3/4 of an inch is required for this. A campfire is also lawful.

Any person who violates a provision of the Forest Fire Law and starts a fire is liable for all resulting damages including suppression costs.

PAPERWORK, PAPERWORK, PAPERWORK!

There are all kinds of odds and ends.
 I just keep wishing he were here.

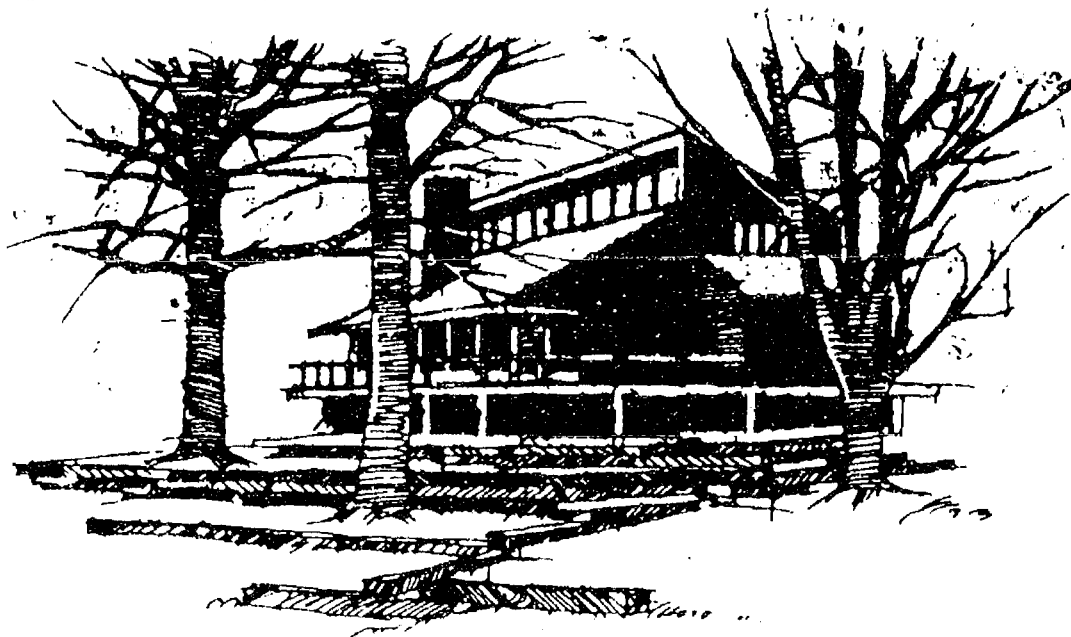

When someone dies their deeds live after them... so does their estate. Survivors have to take care of many details that require paperwork and contact between lawyers, government officials, insurance personnel and banks. Cooking for one less, cutting the lawn, managing finances and probating the estate can all be surprisingly difficult tasks. Our tendency may be to rush through this work because each encounter reminds us of our loved one. These reminders are grief producing and can be painful. Yet hasty decisions are not necessarily good decisions; they may in fact be bad. Take time to do things well. When your grief makes it difficult to make good decisions it may be wise to take a vacation or a short rest. When necessary seek out friends or professionals for support and help with emotions and practical matters.

Chamber Chatter

When you think Spring - your thoughts drift to home improvements. Now is the time to consult your builder or supplier about plans for new construction or renovation of your existing property. The opportunity to see all the new things on Home Improvements will be displayed at the Grayling Annual Home Show. The exhibition is scheduled for May 4th, 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. and on May 5th from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The place is the former Fred Bear Museum Building at Hanson Hills.

Exhibitors are selecting their booth space and the response is most reassuring. We will have a fine show. The admission is 50 cents and entitles the ticket holder for a chance to win the Grand Prize that has a value of several hundred dollars. The Grand Prize is something that everyone can use. There is plenty of parking space, toilet facilities, benches & refreshments are available. Plan now to attend.

The Chamber of Commerce just completed its annual election of members to the Board of Directors. Newly elected Board Members whose terms will expire on May 31, 1988 are Col. Ivan Gwilt, Camp Grayling Commander; Mike McNamara, Mac's Drug Store; Randy Thompson, Century 21 Realty; and Norma Naour, Cornell Realty. Col. Gwilt and Norma Naour are re-elected while Randy Thompson and Mike McNamara are new to the board. Election of officers will take place at the regular Board Meeting held on May 9th as a luncheon meeting. Officers are elected from the Board of Directors. A Nominating Committee will recommend candidates for the ensuing year.

One week after the election of officers of the Chamber, on May 16th, there will be the Annual Banquet at which time the reigns of boardship will change hands. The Annual Banquet is scheduled to be held at the Red Barn. Tentative actions will include a farewell speech by outgoing President Kathy Ashton. The new President is expected to reveal the program of work and goals for the coming year. Outgoing officers besides President Ashton are: Joanne Cox, of Holiday Inn, First Vice President; John Alef, Grayling State Bank, Second Vice President and Dr. Paul Mesack, Animal Hospital, Treasurer. CHURCH DIRECTORY

LILAC TIME

They're young, they're in love, they face each other across the table munching hamburgers and sipping cokes. They've got stars in their eyes and they're in a cloud that "comes on" like a country lane in lilac time. Just now they don't need anything or anybody else.

It's beautiful while it lasts, but it doesn't last, at least not this way. In some ways, things get better. In other ways, the repetition of everyday living (with the bills and the dishes and colds in winter and poison ivy in summer) catches up. And so people need a focal point where they can weigh one thing against another and really consider what it's all about.

There happens to be a good place to ponder and to judge... one that's been around for quite a few centuries. The Church, in case you haven't guessed.

On Friday, March 22, a locksmith named Mr. Tessin came. He came to demonstrate what he does for a living. He showed us a bunch of different kinds of locks and keys. He showed us a lock with a magnet for a key. He explained how to pick a lock. He gave us each a key. He passed a lock around with a key in it. He told us all about padlocks. He showed us some different kinds of padlocks. By Melissa Keesler, 4th grade.

Cancer Drive In May

May is the month of the American Cancer Society's annual drive. Over a hundred volunteers will be asking for donations to continue the fight against cancer. The American Cancer Society funds research and educational programs. More volunteers are needed this year. There are three areas that have none to collect. They are Frederic, Jones Lake Road, and McIntyres Landing. Marge Morford, crusade chairman, said that there have always been willing hands in these areas, and would like to find some new ones for the drive. If anyone is interested in helping in these areas, please contact Marge Morford at 348-4681.

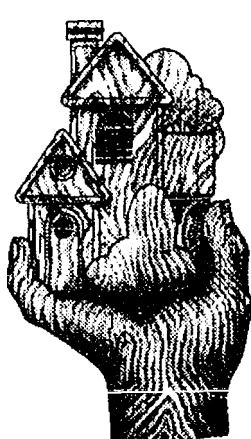

RSVP Reports

While visiting Mercy Hospital this week I came upon Mary Lowery working in the library. Sister Margaret says they appreciate our volunteers and all the hours they devote there. They currently are in need of two more volunteers to do typing and also to work in the gift shop. The Middle School is in need of anyone interested in doing general tutoring. Although there is only about 8 weeks of school left, they still would like volunteers for the remainder of the school year. If you are interested in any of these assignments, come in and see us at 308 Lawndale or call 348-4341 or 348-8322.

RSVP is a challenging and rewarding program here in Grayling. Our volunteers serve an average of four hours a month. Each receives brief orientation prior to their assignment and is provided supervision and inservice instruction. The only criteria for participation in RSVP is that a person be 60 years or older.
